HAVAS

Barcelona, 6th—The strikes are decreasing all over the Peninsula. Here in Barcelona order is completely restored.

Rome, 6th—In spite of Government, the Senate threw out yesterday, by 98 to 6 votes, the second part of Article 87 of the "Pious Works" Bill. Premier Crispi declared in the Senate that a conflict between that House and the Deputies would force Government to appeal to the country. It is thought that the Senate will reconsider its vote.

GALVESTON.

Berne, 5th.—The elections for the Cantonal Council of Berne will show a large Liberal majority.

Berlin, 5th.—The Emperor has returned to Potsdam.

Barcelona, 5th —There was great excitement this morning in the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Club, owing to a bomb-shell having exploded in front of the building. The doors and windows were shattered. The strikers are discontented at not having obtained what they asked, and the numerous disputes amongst themselves ended in a general free fight. The authorities offered to protect the many who wished to return to work. A party of ten men attacked the house of a landed proprietor near Valencia, and carried him off to the mountains till his family pay 300 duros ransom.

Paris, 5th.—The agitation amongst the working men at Roubaix and Tourcoing is decreasing. It is thought that the conference between the men's delegates and the masters will end favourably.

Vienna, 6th.—The strike of the employees of the state railways has ended, as the authorities have granted the increased pay demanded.

THE PAN AMERICANS AT WASHINGTON.

London, March 29th.

Some excitement was caused yesterday by the announcement that Mr Secretary Blaine had proposed to the Pan Americans to abolish all international tariffs, from Hudson's Bay to Patagonia. It is now some years since I urged a scheme of this kind in the columns of the STANDARD, and who knows but that it may one day become a reality! For the present, however, there seems not the remotest probability of such a desirable result. The most perverse "cussedness" in fiscal matters pervades all the American Republics, and the meeting of Pan American delegates at Washington was a practical method of shewing how many barriers against trade each of the "free and independent" republics has raised up. To-day's telegrams declare that what Mr Blaine proposed had reference solely to the Argentine Republic, the delegates from which country had been eloquently proclaiming the advantages of improved trade relations.

Thereupon, as it appears, Mr Blaine offered to admit Argentine wool and other products duty-free, if Argentina would reciprocate as regards petroleum, lumber and other American exports. The offer was a fair one, but to the surprise of everybody the Argentine Pan Americans declined to accept it, alleging that they had no powers to do so, and that they must consult the Cabinet of Buenos Ayres. We may here pause to ask, what was the use of sending two Pan-Americans from Buenos Ayres to Washington if they had no powers, except to make sonorous speeches?

The other Pan Americans, from Brazil, Chile, Venezuela, Mexico etc., have every reason to feel aggrieved that Mr Blaine should make an offer to Argentina which he was unwilling to make to the other nations of the American Continent. Perhaps the truth is that Mr Blaine knew the Argentines to be such "enraged Protectionists" that they would not for a moment entertain his proposal. At the same time the signal failure of the Pan American Congress is divested of any blame as regards the U. States, since Mr Blaine can paint to the unwillingness of Argentina, a proof that the fault lies not with Brother Jonathan but with his Spanish cousins of South America.

It is a mere sarcasm for men to talk of liberty, when every act of their lives is designed with the view of impeding commerce, checking the free intercourse of nations, and putting tremendous penalties on various branches of industry. There can be no tyranny of a more degrading or pernicious character than that which fills the pockets of a score of sugar-planters at the cost of four millions of inhabitants. What I say of sugar-planters is true of a dozen other trades or industries in the Argentine Republic, which thrive and fatten by extracting large sums from the public.

When the Argentine nation has been bled copiously by the persons interested in favored industries, the people will begin to see the benefits of Free Trade. Without Free Trade you have no real freedom. It may be said that Free Banks have proved so disastrous that any more "Free" things must be viewed with suspicion. The error, meantime, as regards Free Banks was in omitting the clause that "when any bank fails to give gold on demand for its notes the Fiscal shall order its doors to be closed."

To return to the Pan Americans. They have been treated with extreme courtesy by the American people, and have enjoyed the hospitality offered them on all sides. Their conference ends in smoke, but they will take back to their various countries the impression that Jonathan is able to maintain his position as a principal personage in the destinies of the 19th century. Jonathan has no desire to annex Mexico, Canada or the South American continent, but the force of events, the destiny of nations, will make his influence paramount in the New World, even against his will. Coming events cast their shadows before: the affairs of America, North and South, will before two generations take their guiding impulse from Washington, the Pan American metropolis.

ROSARIO.

(From our own Correspondent)

May 3rd.

Political errors, like chickens, come home to roost. When Sarmiento, in his horror of revolutions, encouraged Provincial Governors to surround themselves permanently with armed forces, he did not foresee that he gave a death-blow to civic liberty. But so it is. Avellaneda succeeded him, and was the first to make use of Governors of Provinces as political electoral agents. Now it is no longer a question, in any election, from that of a President down to a Juez de Paz, to appeal to the people. The people! Pamplinas! They are eliminated from political combinations. In the most simple manner possible the elective powers are all deposited in the hands of Provincial Governors. They make Presidents, Senators, Deputies and all. If anyone wants to be President he has only to get into the good graces of a majority of the Governors of Provinces.

But this system, although a charming one for the parties who hold the situation in the palm of their hands, has its drawbacks. Where there is an opposition, or two contending parties, it is bad policy for the stronger party to suppress its rivals. The ruling party boasts of having succeeded in effecting this anti-patriotic end. We will leave patriotism out of the question, however. The policy is stupid and short-sighted. If the minority is allowed a free fight, and they are defeated, they make the best of it, and bear no particular malice. On the other hand, if their rights are foolishly denied them, from political opponents they become bitter enemies, and are enabled to make their adversaries in power peculiarly uncomfortable.

In fact, the party of the opposition is so implacable and active that good government and sound administration have become an impossibility. It is fortunate for the country that the opposition party is composed, as a general rule, of the sound and intelligent members of the community, or otherwise the whole country would be in a state of anarchy.

For twenty years there has not been a popular election in Santa Fe. Its Governors have been imposed always with the "beneplacito" of the President of the Republic. The Governors name the Deputies to Congress, always friends of the ruling powers, as well as the members of the Provincial Chambers. I am not writing as a partizan. I am only trying to explain the phenomenon of a political party being literally stifled out of existence by adversaries who certainly have not proved themselves the 'élite' of Argentine statesmen. And this explains, returning to our theme, the inveterate animosity, the hatred—often times blind, but partly justifiable—of the oppostion, that, as I have said, makes good government impossible, even where the intentions are legitimate.

The sugar manufacturing business in the province of Tucuman is not making the progress that might be expected, taking into consideration the enormous protective duties by which it is favored. Still, it is an important factor in the wealth of the nation. The production in 1889 was thirty-five million kilos, the value of which is calculated at ten million shinplasters, I wish we could say gold. To this must be added eight million litres of rum, which I suppose is worth a couple of millions more. There are only thirty-three establishments in the province, which are said to be worth fifty million dollars; and, I understand, that two more are in construction that are on a stupendous scale.

I think the figures of thirty-five thousand tons as the production of 1889 are somewhat exaggerated. If they be correct, and be added to the production of Salta, Santiago, the Chaco, Corrientes and Misiones, we ought to be on the eve of producing enough sugar for the home consumption of the country; and yet a large quantity of foreign sugars enters the Custom House.

You are not probably aware that Tucuman owes the initiative of her sugar industry to the bishop, D. Jose Eusebio Colombres, belonging to a numerous and distinguished family in that province. He formed the first plantation of sugar cane in 1822, and in 1824 sweetened his mate and that of his friends with sugar of his own making. I question if the bishops of the present day would turn up their noses at it. But the good bishop Colombres deserved well of his country for all that.

I am sorry to say, the paper, the Municipio, is still doing its utmost to discredit the Provincial Bank, and not so much the bank as its manager, Mr. Palacio. The attacks are so virulent and so evidently personal, that there is a reaction setting in, and the imprudent articles of the waspish editor are alrsady losing the effect he appears to so ardently desire, to create a systematic run on the bank, and thus not only damage that institution, but do incalculable mischief to the commercial community who have placed their confidence in the bank, particularly to its debtors. It is a pity that the Municipio does not take a leaf out of the Buenos Aires Nacion, a paper just as rabid an oppositionist as the Rosario paper. But when the credit of the Provincial Bank of Buenos Aires, which has been very far from being sinless in the late vortex of speculation, was attacked, the Nacion energetically defended the bank, and deprecated as criminal and anti-patriotic any attempt to injure its credit.

I was amused the other day, overhearing a conversation between one of our City Fathers and an American gentleman. They were talking about municipal affairs; that is, the C.F. was doing most of the talking.

"Mr....." said he, "don't you think we are unjustly treated by the public and the press? You as a foreigner, and a citizen of the greatest country in the world, I am sure you judge more leniently of us in our arduous and difficult position. Tell me your impartial opiulon of the Rosario municipality."

"Shall I give you my real and impartial opinion?" asked the American.

"Yes, that is what I want."

"Well then, my conviction is that if you were in any town in the United States, you would all of you have been lynched long ago!"

LOSS OF THE GULF OF ADEN.

AN ACCOUNT BY A PASSENGER.

Castro, April 6th, 1890.

We left Punta Arenas on Saturday, March 8th, at midnight, a few minutes before the Oratava. The Oratava being a much faster steamer soon left us behind. We had thirty-three emigrants and six first-class passengers and a crew of forty, including firemen, cooks and officers. On Sunday the 9th, we encountered very heavy gales from the west; we cleared the Straits at midnight, meeting a very heavy sea and continuous gales from the W.N.W. The ship was rolling so much that I decided to spend the day in my bunk, but was induced by the captain to get up to dinner. During the afternoon some of the deck cargo broke loose, but it was secured before any damage was done. On Tuesday the 11th the weather was much the same and the ship laboring very badly. I turned in at ten p.m., leaving the captain and some of the passengers conversing in the saloon. I slept till midnight, when my cabin companion came and woke me with "be quick on deck, we are sinking." At first I thought he was having a lark to himself, but when I looked at his face I saw it was but too true. I jumped up, caught hold of some of my clothes and ran on deck and there dressed myself. I then made my way to the bridge to ask the captain if we were really sinking; he said, "I am afraid we are, but we may save the ship yet," and told me to go to the saloon and tell the steward to lock up all the liquors and keep the men from drinking. We then commenced to provision the boats. The captain then ordered the boats to be swung out ready for launching and send women and children into the saloon. The waves were sweeping the decks at intervals of a few minutes, and several persons were washed overboard. At about half-past one a.m., the captain gave orders to lower the boats. No 1 life-boat was smashed into fragments alongside and rendered useless. No. 2 life-boat was rendered useless, having broke the davit while coaling at St. Vincent. No. 3 life-boat was next lowered with about twenty persons, including the second officer; she got badly damaged and swamped alongside; at daybreak she still floated and contained nine persons. No. 4 life-boat was next launched in good condition, containing the first officer, three women and five children and eighteen men. The long boat was next launched and left in good condition with eleven persons; No 6 cutter had been launched in the meantime, by whom I do not know; I heard somebody calling for help and found the boat smashed to pieces and a sailor hanging on to a rope. We tried to haul him on deck, and finally succeeded in getting him as high as the rails, when he let go his hold and was drowned. We then got No. 5 gig ready and lowered her safely. The captain being the last to leave the ship, he jumped overboard and we hauled him into our boat; this was about four a.m.

We then hung around the ship till daylight. As soon as it was light we pulled towards the ship to see if there was any possible chance of doing anything to save her. The captain was just asking the 3rd officer and carpenter their opinion, when down she went head first and our hopes with her. We then looked around for the other boats, and saw No. 3 life-boat with 9 persons up to the waist in water, No. 4 life-boat with 26 persons and the long boat with 9, and our boat containing the captain, 3rd officer and 13 more. The captain then proposed that we should each take 3 persons from No. 3 boat, and we then made for where they were. We then found that the longboat, instead of following us, had gone away on their own account. Our boat had more than she was able to carry, and the 1st officer's boat was stove in twixt wind and water, so we were reluctantly obliged to leave them, in hopes that they would be picked up by some passing steamer. The captain then proposed that we should keep company with the 1st officer's boat and make for Tres Montes. We were about 120 miles from the coast when the steamer foundered. The chief officer had a chart but no compass, and we had neither chart nor compass. By this time the sea had moderated a little and we started rowing east as near as possible, occasionally waiting for the other boat to come up. We overhauled our provisions and found we had about ten pounds of biscuit, wet with salt water, and about fifty pounds of tinned meat, including a raw ham, but not a drop of fresh water. In the afternoon we took the mate's boat in tow, until dark. Then we arranged to lay to for the night, so we took the painter of the life-boat and put out drags or sea anchors; however, we found it did not suit very well and the captain decided to run before the gale. It was blowing at this time about W.S.W. That is the last we saw of the mate's boat. We kept rowing all night. At daybreak we rigged up a sail and ran as near east as the sea and wind would permit. By this time we were all more or less suffering from thirst, especially the captain, who appeared to suffer more than the rest of us. However, I will leave it to the reader to imagine our sufferings in a small open boat at the mercy of the winds and waves.

On Friday the 14th, at daybreak, we sighted the land. The captain at this time was wandering in his mind. Mr. Sargent, the 3rd officer, had been at the tiller from the time we left the ship without being relieved.

After a dangerous passage between rocks and islands we discovered a little creek sheltered from the waves, and there we beached the boat and soon found water in abundance. All this time we had been soaked in water, and naturally were suffering from cold. Shortly after getting ashore one of the emigrants, named Gordon, died. We then tried to light a fire, but the matches were damp, and we had to leave it till we could dry them. There was no shelter ashore, so we hauled up the boat as far as we could, using the sails to cover her and keep out the rain, and we all lay in the bottom of the boat that night. I lay beside the captain and had a terrible time with him. His mind was wandering and he wanted to get out of the boat, or go down into the cabin as he thought. By morning he was unconscious. We managed to light a fire in the boat at daybreak and made some hot water. He took a little and it appeared to do him good. We did everything we could for him, but our efforts were of no avail, and he died that night at 8 o'clock.

Next morning, Sunday, 16th, we made some soup with biscuit and meat, and coffee made of burnt biscuits, and enjoyed our breakfast. We then buried the Captain by the side of Gordon, whom we had buried the week before, and put up a little wooden cross with their names, etc., on. Mr. Sargent and the carpenter made some bandages and bandaged the feet up of those who were suffering most. I was amongst the latter, having left the ship in a pair of slippers and no socks.

The weather had improved considerably, so we decided to make for the north in the hope of reaching Chiloe or Port Montt. The boat was launched with considerable difficulty at 10 a.m., and we once more found ourselves in the open sea with a fresh breeze from the S.W. That night we lay on the leeside of an island till towards morning, when we found ourselves drifting ashore. We then took to the oars, and after a hard pull of three or four hours we got round a headland and shaped our course for the north. One of the immigrants, named Poole, showed signs of madness, and towards night we were compelled to tie him down in the boat. He died the next morning, Tuesday. We then ran into a gulf and found that there was no way out except by retracing our steps. Towards night we ran ashore and filled our barrels with water and found a few shell fish. That night we lay on our oars all night. Early next morning we got clear of the gulf and once more made for the north. How we passed the rest of the time I hardly know. We were all suffering more or less from our hands and feet. On Friday the engineers' steward went mad, and he died. On Sunday, the 23rd, the cabin boy died, and then ten of us were left. Several times we were on the point of being swamped, but the boat behaved wonderfully well and was remarkably well handled by Mr. Sargent, the 3rd officer, to whom I believe we all owe our lives. On Monday, the 24th, we saw in the distance a little column of smoke, which turned out to be a little ranch south of Quellon. The owner gave us some manzanilla, camomile tea, boiled potatoes and shell fish (we indulged in a few raw potatoes in the meantime) and afterwards went with us to Quellon in the boat, where we arrived about noon, and were received with every kindness by Sr. Vivar, the Captain of the port, Mr. Smith, engineer of the saw-mill, and don Santos Vargas, each trying to outdo the other in attentions. Only three of our number were able to walk a little, the rest of us were not able to stand. The Captain of the port despatched a messenger to Castro for medical aid, &c. The Governor of Castro, Sr. J. Antonio Fontecilla, on receiving the news at once took steps for our relief, and arrived on Friday morning in Quellon with a doctor and several friends eager to render us every assistance. We were at once conveyed on board the Pudeto, where we found new clothes awaiting us, receiving every attention from Sr. Fontecilla, and Mr. John Christie, who acted as interpreter for those who could not speak Spanish, and assisting the doctor Sr. Pedro Villanueva who deserves great praise for his untiring efforts to relieve the sufferings of the sick. From Quellon we went to Melinca to see if any of the other boats had arrived there, and finding that none of the rest had arrived there, we steered straight for Castro, arriving there on Saturday night, at 9 p.m. We were at once conveyed on shore, six in the worst condition were sent to the hospital, two to an hotel, and Mr. Sargent and myself were installed in the Governor's house. Thanks to Mr. John and Robert Christie, the patients were provided with milk and other necessary articles, these gentlemen continually visiting them and administering all sorts of comforts.

On Monday morning our kind doctor was taken ill and his life was thought to be in danger, but I am happy to say he is again on his feet attending to his patients.

On Monday the Angamos arrived, sent by the Government to look for the missing boats. Mr. Sargent, although unable to walk, volunteered to go south with them, and, having taken in a stock of fresh provisions, they left here at 4 p.m.

On Tuesday the Magallanes arrived here at 11.20 a.m., and left again at 1 p.m. in search of the missing boats; with the intention of following round the southern coast of Chiloé, visiting the port of Huape Quilan, the island Huafo, and from there following as close as possible the outer line of the islands of Guaitecas and Chonos, calling at the islands of Huamblin; besides the ship's doctor the Intendente of the Province had sent another to assist in attending the shipwrecked persons in case they found them.

On Thursday morning (April 3rd) the chief steward died from the effects of exposure in the boat, in spite of the incessant attention of the doctors and the persons who assisted them. There are still four of our number in a critical state, but progressing favorably, the doctors think it probable no amputation will be required.

The distance we travelled in the boat would be fully 600 miles, during all the time the wind was more or less in our favor. I am sure we all owe our lives to Mr. Sargent, for without his knowledge and great care we should never have reached Quellon. We have also to thank the Governor Mr. Fontecilla and his amiable wife, Mr. John Christie, Mr. Robert Christie and the rest of numerous friends from whom we received every possible kindness and attention.

I have read in the Probidad of Ancud, dated April 1st, a statement regarding the loss of the Gulf of Aden, which I consider very incorrect in several parts, for example, it states that the captain was very young and inexperienced and that there was great confusion and disorder on board. With respect to his inexperience it is a great mistake, as Captain Munro had made several voyages in charge of steamers of the same line, and as a proof that order was maintained on board, no one was allowed to get into the boats until the women and children were safely placed in them, and Captain Munro was the last person to leave the ship and was obliged to jump overboard and swim to our boat.

The donkeyman died this morning (April 6th).

It would, undoubtedly, be of very great importance, for the benefit of shipwrecked people that the Government should construct a telegraph line to the southern part of the island of Chiloe, and also that they should station a small vessel in Castro, or even further south, and that sufficient quantity of coal should be deposited at the port in which she is stationed. In this way, several days of most valuable time would be saved, and the probabilities of saving life and property would be very much increased without costing the Government any more, and I believe, very much less, than at present.

THE ARGENTINE REPUBLIC AND ITS RESOURCES.

The attacks made upon the pecuniary position of the Argentine Republic are so persistent as to require a general statement respecting the resources and liabilities of that country. The Argentine Republic has not only vast territories but vast resources. It may have been too eager to develop them quickly, a fault—if it be one—which it shares with several of our own Colonies, especially New Zealand, which also borrowed money for Railways and other public works more rapidly than was approved in England, but which fully restored its position by a few years of less active policy.

It must be remembered that the Argentine Provinces cover some 515,700 square miles, or nine times the area of Great Britain. Territories of which for the present we take no account would raise the total area to more than double this, or to 1,125,086 square miles. The population is considerably more than four millions, a number which is being rapidly increased not only by natural growth, but by a very large immigration. The number of immigrants now exceeds 200,000 in a year, mostly from Spain and Italy. The soil of the Republic is nearly all suitable both for grass and cereals, and has the advantage of requiring no outlay for clearing. The only expenditure required for making a farm is the cost of the farm buildings and of the necessary fencing. The area under cultivation is more than 6 million acres, of which more than 2 million acres are under wheat. In the year 1889 we exported to the Republic British and Irish goods to the amount of £10,672,000, as against £7,657,000 in 1888. These consisted very largely of rails, hardware, railway chairs, &c, obtained with the view of more rapidly developing the resources of the State. It is computed that the Argentine Republic possesses 80 million sheep, 18 million horned cattle, and 5 million horses.

As a result of this brief review the reader will naturally come to the conclusion that the Argentine Republic is intrinsically rich and well able to pay its way, although hampered for the time by too large an expenditure on public works. What is required for a few years is exactly what became necessary in the case of New Zealand — economy in expenditure and a reduced outlay upon the public works. This the Argentine Government has felt, and accordingly it has published the memorandum which we quoted last week. From this document it is established that considerable reductions have been made in the expenditure for this year, and that still larger reductions will follow next year. All further undertakings with Government concessions are suspended. The Issue Banks will not be allowed to increase their amounts of notes, and the existing issues are to be reduced. The Provincial Government of Buenos Ayres is ordered to suspend the issue of Cedulas, and all the provinces are ordered to make no further issues of credit paper and to abstain from creating any external loans.

These reforms are obviously salutary. Following the Governmental memorandum as to the measures to be adopted, we have the encouraging announcement that between now and June seventy-six steamers will be employed in bringing to England wheat to the value of £1,500,000. Exports upon this scale should tend to put the balance of trade in favour of the Republic.—Money Market Review.

Railway Items.

We note by the report of the Technical Inspector that last month the permanent way of the Northern Railway was fairly good; the counter-rails at the level-crossings had not been put down, although the company have ordered the work to be done. The widening of the track from Olivos to San Isidro was actively pushed forward during the month, and this line is now ready to be opened to traffic. The Inspector complains of the Central, Retiro and Palermo Stations. No accidents during the month.

In regard to the Ensenada Line, he states that the condition of the road-bed is good, but that the line passing through the streets constitutes a permanent public danger. The Inspector complains of the want of cleanliness in the second-class carriages.

The Pacific Railway have laid before the Government their guarantee account for the last half-year:—£14,983.

According to a letter received at the N. R Board yesterday from Inspector Nolasco, a collision occurred between two engines at Balde Station on the 28th ult. Both engines were damaged.

Telegrams received yesterday state that, owing to the falling-in of the rails at Muñoz Station, the Bahia Blanca train on Sunday arrived several hours behind time.

The Cordobese Chambers were opened on Sunday last, and the Governor read a lengthy Message, in the course of which he gave some details about the progress of railways in the Province of Cordoba. H.E. is inclined to think that all the concessions granted will be carried out. All the preliminary surveys of the Bemberg concession for a railway from Cordoba to Cruz del Eje, through Rio Cuarto, Calera, Cosquin, San Roque and other settlements, have been approved and the works are to be begun shortly. The surveys of the railway from Rio Segundo to Alta Gracia have also been approved.

We may prepare for tremendous revelations about the Western Railway. Mr. Adolfo D'Amico, brother to the ex-governor, has made some heavy charges, the inquiry into which is certain to raise a storm. It is rather late in the day to begin sifting these matters, but better late than never.

Government has approved the change of name of the Metropolitan Tramways Company to that of "Grand National Tramway Company of Buenos Ayres."

The contractors for laying the Dean Funes and Chilecito line have been authorized to construct three culverts at kilometres 118, 126 and 127.

Government has approved the plans of the Great Southern of Santa Fe and Cordoba Company for a junction with the Central Argentine at Santa Teresa.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Yesterday was rather quiet. No violent news of any kind from any quarter; no cyclones, or revolutions, or storms, or "bajantes". It is decided that Congress shall be opened on Saturday next, so next week we shall all have something to talk about.

A solemn funeral service for the late Mrs. Clara Funes de Roca will be celebrated in the Cathedral on Friday next.

The Hon. John G. Pitkin, U. States Minister to this Republic, returned from Montevideo yesterday and left in the evening in the Cosmos, with Mr. George Maney, U. States Minister to Paraguay, for Asuncion. General Osborne and Mr. Pealer accompany the Ministers. We wish them a pleasant trip. They will probably meet Admiral Gillies in Asuncion.

Don't forget to attend Signor Milliotti's concert to-night. It will be a grand affair.

Governor Juarez opened the Cordobese Legislature on Sunday, and read a very long Message, which contained absolutely nothing new.

We note that Messrs. Wilson & Son, agents for the Pacific and several other lines of steamers, have removed their offices to No 365 Calle Reconquista.

The Young Men's Association attached to the American Church, whose proceedings we have had occasion to notice from time to time, is again to be congratulated on the complete success that attended the entertainment on Monday evening, when the Lecture Hall was filled to its utmost capacity by a keenly appreciative audience. The piano solos by Mr. Richards and Mr. Leudesdorff respectively were played in a masterly manner, the latter gentleman, who, we understand, has only recently arrived in this country, having to respond to a persistent "encore." The vocal contributions comprised the song, "Mother Darling," exquisitely rendered by Miss Lee: the duet, "The Gentle Hour," by the same lady and Miss Nicholson, whose rendering of it carried the audience completely, and they had to repeat the last stanza. And a similar reception greeted Mrs. Baker's charming interpretation of the song "Wooing," and in response to the "encore" this lady contributed a second song. Mr. Bradford and Mr. Edgcumbe each contributed a song, and a Zither solo, played with his usual skill by Mr. Homberger (twice encored), completed the musical list. One reading and two recitations appeared on the programme, the former by Mr. Wallace, who carried the audience with him in his "Melting Story": and the two recitations, "In Swanage Bay" and a "Pistol Story," by Miss Wood, this lady possessing powers of memory and elocution of the highest rank, her performance being encored in each case. Tea was served in the interval between the two parts of the programme, and at a late hour the audience dispersed, highly pleased with the evening's entertainment.

Amongst recently patented inventions is a "letter stamping machine" which may be set in motion by foot, electricity, gas or steam. It will cancel, postmark, count and stack letters and postal cards at the rate of 30,000 per hour. The machine is in successful operation in the New York Post Office, where it is giving the utmost satisfaction to the department. We will soon hear of this wonderful machine doing similar work in the General Post Office here.

The R. P. Times says:—"Mr. Frank B. Hill, the new N. American Consul, who arrived in the Sorata, was formally presented to the President by the U. S. Minister on Friday afternoon, and the usual decree of recognition was issued. Mr. F. B. Hill comes from Minnesota, and was in the War Department at Washington for five year. He also filled the post of Consul at Asuncion, Paraguay, for one and a half year. Notwithstanding the similarity of name he is no relation to his predecessor Mr. A. J. Hill, who left on Wednesday in the Atrato."

We received yesterday the prospectus of an Italian-American Commercial Exhibition to be held in Genoa in 1892, to celebrate the fourth centenary of the discovery of this Continent. The object of the Show is to give a push to trade with the South American countries. The main features of the Show will be merchandise, a Maritime Exhibition, and a Geographical and Historical Congress, while there will be "feste popolari" innumerable. Three special Committees have been formed for the republics of Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina. The following well known gentlemen form the Committee for this country; and we may add that an epic-poetic tinge will be given to the Show from the fact that its President is a Commauder, a barrister and a Professor whose name is Virgil:—Presidente Onorario, Dott. Bonifacio Peralta Uriarte, Console generale della Repubblica Argentina. Presidente Effettivo G. B. Maccio. Vice Presidenti Cav. Serafino Pollonini—Dottor Basilio Cittadini. Segretario Avv. Rossi Abraham. Membri, Dott. Paolo Marengo—Antonio Rivolta—Abramo Rossi—Cav. Angelo Treves (Ditta G. Cohen)—G. B. Bacigalupo—Giacomo Reccagno—Cesare Lavarello—Bianchi Luigi—Fasce Giuseppe—Costa A. Gaetano—Giovanni Casanova—Guglieri Ambrogio—Giuseppe Ottone di Giorgio—Slomi Ernesto—Angelo Parpaglione di Luigi.

The Concordia papers announce the death of Don Felipe Serrano, manager of the branch of the National Bank there, and most highly esteemed by the commercial public.

The Children's Corso at the Exhibition is a great attraction for lady visitors, who care little about agriculture, wool, cattle, machinery and such "yerbas." The juvenile procession moves round every day, and some of the "cochecitos" are very nice.

The nights are getting just a trifle too cold for open tram cars. Managers of companies would greatly oblige the public by kindly taking a note of the fact.

Whew! The Minister of War has issued an order that reveals a shameful state of things. Any clerk in the War Department who is found to take money for getting business despatched will be at once dismissed. There was an uneasy suspicion that the abuse in question existed, and this warning from the new Minister to his subordinates unfortunately confirms it.

Signorina Gemma Luziani's concert on Monday evening was an immense success. The Opera hall was crowded to excess by the best judges of music, professional and amateur, in this city, and not one of them could pick a flaw, from beginning to end, in the wonderful execution of the long programme by the young and rarely-gifted artist. The applause after each piece was unbounded.

The Lord Mayor had to "face the music" at last at the meeting of the C.C.'s on Monday and give the financial explanations demanded of him. His lordship had a very weak case, and made it still feebler by his special pleading, which was simply torn to pieces by Commissioner Piñero in reply. As everybody was tired, the sitting was then adjourned.

The squabble about the possession of land in South Barracas has led to the arrest of four of the new "proprietors," by order of Judge Demaria. Four others have managed to slip out of the way. The case is a very curious one, and, no doubt, all the facts will come out in the trial.

There was a strike in one of the largest cigarette factories (La Provecedora) on Monday. Three hundred men assembled in Plaza Montserrat, walked down to Constitucion, talked themselves thirsty, got sick of the whole affair and then wisely went back and made it up with the "patrones."

We are glad to see the Censor endorse our oft-expressed opinion that those periodical "visitas de carceles," in which scores of prisoners are liberated on the most futile pretexts, is a great abuse and should be put a stop to. The last visit of the Judges resulted in fifty convicts being let loose on Society before half their sentences were worked out.

Governor Costa is enveloped in telegrams of congratulation on his accession to power. In this case they are well deserved. Nevertheless, the custom of wiring pats on the back to all kinds of public functionaires on the most trivial pretexts is a very silly one, and a satirist could pass hours of enjoyment in cutting up the long strings of telegrams. This custom will some day die a natural death, but at present it is a first class risk for an insurance company.

Printers' errors again! Yesterday they mixed up the "tape," the Bears on 'Change, the fall in gold and a religious ceremony, and wound up the last paragraph of this column by making Mr Holmberg the father of a family too numerous to mention—and this for want of a comma in the right place.

More music! We are indebted to Messrs Drangosch and Beines for another charming piece of music, which follows the framework of the stately dances in the last century. It has a distinct and graceful melody of its own, and, whilst affording no manipulative difficulties, is a most pleasing drawing-room piece, which we recommend to our lady readers.

M. Auguste Hamonet, of Formosa, whose striking success in the cultivation of the "Ramie" fibre in the Chaco we had the pleasure of referring to some weeks ago, has favored us with a very interesting pamphlet he has just published on the subject. Manchester men should keep their eye on this new raw material which many good judges think will force King Cotton to take a back seat, and possibly to retire from business altogether, before long.

There is general howl at the price of Biekhert's beer being raised 100 per cent just at the moment in which the gold premium has tumbled 50 per cent. The public are, very naturally, puzzled to understand this proceeding. Shopkeepers, too, not only maintain, but some of them have even still further raised their previous monstrous prices. They say there is a great scarcity of all foreign articles, owing to the snag-up in imports since the beginning of the year. Gold up, or gold down, the unfortunate general public have to pay the piper.

They are smart men in Rosario. Some of the "industriales" in that quarter swear that they have won prizes at the Palermo Exhibition, though the awards of the Jurics are not finished yet.

This bright frosty weather has brought the Foot-ballites to the front. In another column will be found a notice stating that the first game of the season will be played on the Old Polo Field, Flores, on Sunday next, 11th. Kick off at 2 p.m. It is to be hoped there will be a goodly turn out of members, and would-be members are also invited to attend.

One of the wonders of California, about which very little has yet been written, is a railroad running through tree tops. This is in Sonoma County, near the Pacific coast. Between the Clipper Mills and Stuart Point, where the road crosses a deep ravine, the trees are sawed off on a level with the surrounding hills, and the timber and ties are laid on the stumps. In the centre of the ravine two huge redwood trees, standing side by side, form the most substantial supports. These trees have been lopped off 70 feet above the bottom of the creek. This unique feat of engineering is little known outside the neighbourhood in which it is situate.

The Artesian well at Balde, in San Luis is really a "balde sin fondo". Work has been going on at it for ten years, yet not a drop of useful water has been had, after the squandering of hundreds of thousands of dollars. Nevertheless, more good money (if shinplasters can be called so) is to be thrown after bad, and M. Dru of Paris is to have the Actualmente la empresa del Ferro-carril del Sud está constituyendo el ramal de Las Flores al Tandil, cuya via cruza el campo en toda su extension teniendo una importante estacion al frente mismo del pueblo de la Colonia.

El terreno es alto y escepcional para trigo, maiz, alfalfa, etc., y ocupa el centro del campo de Moujan.
Esta colonia ya esta poblada en las 76 chacras vendidas, y tiene 78 edificios ocupados por 420 personas (colonos) que tienen 1800 animales de trabajo y cuentan con 84 kilometros de canales de desague, los mismos que servirán para el regadio una vez concluidos: cruzados por 20 puentes de albañileria.
Las chacras que vamos a vender son 170 y constan de 50 hectareas mas o menos cada una.
Cada chacra reconoce un gravámen de 100 pesos por hectarea en cedulas de las series L y M provinciales.
Base para la venta 140 pesos hectarea, condiciones de pago inmejorables.
El excedente de la base y la diferencia de las cedulas entre el precio nominal y el de la cotizacion en plaza el dia antes de la escrituracion, podrá pagarlas el comprador en cuatro cuotas como sigue:

La proximidad de estos campos al Pueblo General Acha a donde muy pronto llegará la via ferrea; el gravamen hipotecario que excede en mas de un 50 ojo a la base establecida para la venta y la orden terminante que tenemos de vender excediendo esta á pesar de ser tan infima; nos hace llamar la atencion de los Estancieros, agricultores y cuantos quieran invertir bien sus ahorros, lo coloquen en estos campos, en la seguridad de que dentro de muy poco tiempo tan pronto como se inaugure la linea ferrea habian multiplicado su capital.
Si á esto se agrega la desvalorizacion de la moneda por la alta cotizacion del metalico se comprenderá que no puede darsele mas acertada colocacion.
Como de costumbre el comprador que se haga cargo de la hipoteca, tomará las cedulas a precio de Bolsa y estilo de plaza el dia antes de la escrituracion, abonando el excedente al contado.
En el acto de firmar el boleto abonará el 5 ojo sobre el importe total de su compra.

Regular sailings between Santos, Rio Janeiro, and NE

the sheer force of circumstances, the most powerful of all motors in this sublunary sphere. In this respect the sale last week of six houses in La Plata by the Banco Constructor was a veritable eye-opener, for not alone were so many heads of families enabled to possess themselves of comfortable dwellings almost for nothing, but the very bank made a clear gain of 55 o/o on the apparently ruinous transaction. This then, and not speculation, is at the bottom of the move in shares at constantly advancing quotations, and this admirable policy of Mr. Frank Livingston will yet drive the shares of this establishment to par. The pity is that all the other credit companies do not follow the good example; the several boards of directors could thus materially help the situation. With the best lands about town at zero or thereabouts, and the scrip of many a once popular company at 60 or 70 o/o discount, surely there is ample margin for a brilliant stroke of business.

According to the Message of the Governor of Cordoba, Mr. Marcos Juarez, the profits of the bank were sufficient to pay for the service of the debt, owing to the high premium on gold, the deficiency being, however, made good from the revenue. The state of both Provincial and Provincial Mortgage Banks, said H. E. was most satisfactory, the latter having made profits during the year amounting to 103,290 dollars, and suffered no loss whatsoever, the only three foreclosures rendered necessary giving on realization a sum far superior to amount advanced by bank. The increase of the capital of Provincial Bank to $50,000,000 is being arranged, and the details will shortly be published.

At the second hour the excitement in the market ran very high, as the great demand for gold continued, driving quotations up as high as 227½ for to-morrow and 228 end of month. At the close, never heless, there was a quieter feeling, and after the bell rang gold changed hands for to-morrow at 226. Some of the brokers asserted that there was news in the wind putting up gold, whilst others are of opinion that the advance is simply due to the bears covering their operations. The stiffness of stocks would seem to give strength to the latter view, as they seem now totally indifferent, or at least unresponsive, to the reaction, which would not be the case were the gold advance a genuine reflection of the tendency of the market. Catalinas and Constructors continue to be much dealt in, but it must be confessed that ontside stocks are not yet beyond the pale of suspicion.

With regard to the damage done by the late gale in the La Plata port, a correspondent writes us that the only damage done was to part of the La Plata Moles and Deposits Company's wharves, and that only to a very insignificant extent. The Government dock stood as firm as a rock; not a stone stirred, and whilst in Buenos Aires here there was no water for three miles from the molehead, in La Plata the big liner Antonio Lopez and other ocean steamers of great draught were riding in perfect safety and lots of water. This speaks well for La Plata as a port, and for the solidity of the works.

According to late cables from the European markets, the prices of Argentine cereals are improving, especially wheat. Argentine frozen wethers are also in more demand, and Cedulas have advanced, the National A series being quoted in Hamburg at 45 o/o gold.

Government has approved the statutes of the Bank of London and Brazil, founded in London, with a capital of £5,000,000, and which will have a branch here, with a capital of £1,000,000.

The Customs receipts today were $883,600, to wit: $81,128.24 for imports, $315.20 for exports, and $3,167.28 in bills.

Messrs. Wilson, Sons and Co, Limited, agents for the Pacific Steam Navigation Company, Shaw, Savill and Albion Co., Limited, and New Zealand Shipping Co., Limited, have removed their offices from Calle Cangallo 326, to Reconquista 365. Messrs. Morgan and Smith, alle Cangallo 326, will still act as their brokers.

According to an evening colleague there is a scheme brewing in La Plata to improve the value of the Cedulas by applying the available surplus of the Railway sale proceeds to the purchase of millions of in stock and then amalgamating the whole lot of the series into one, which will be gilt. Probably a more intricate case could not be imagined, and it is difficult to see how such diverse interests can be reconciled. We also join issue with our colleague on the amount of cedulas held in Europe, which it sets down at a bare 40,000,000, alleging that the balance is held in the republic and that the bank alone holds 80,000,000. Altogether the idea is too fantastic to merit much consideration until formal steps have been taken to shew that it is really entertained in official quarters.

Messrs. Funes and Lagos, auctioneers, brought to the hammer on Sunday in Villa Ortero seven blocks of land which were knocked down at from 85 cents to 1.65 m/n per square yard, giving a total of 130,000 dollars; buyers, Rossi, Barcelo, Saba, Ottorello, Cabo, Gimenez, Novaro, Delfino, Ramos, Garulla, Paganini, Rohde, Rantinado and others.

Our semi-official morning colleague says that all the details and basis of the forty-million loan will be arranged here and not in Europe as was announced. Should the announcement be correct, Mr. Sastre's mission can have no connection with the loan, in spite of appearances; however it may be, one thing is certain, and that is negotiations for the loan are again going on and in a fair way of being concluded.

It was announced to day that the Director-General of the Inland Revenue Office, Dr. Granel, has thrown up his post, owing to changes of administration ordered by the Finance Minister, who is paying special attention to the working of the Custom Houses.

The steamship Rosario arrived yesterday in Montevideo from Genoa with five hundred passengers and 350 tons of cargo and fifty passengers for Rosario.

Two more failures were reported yesterday, but we believe of very little importance.

American Whiskey.
DECKER'S
ABSOLUTELY PURE
This mild, mellow and delicious Whiskey is distilled from the finest growth of carefully selected Rye grain and Barley malt. It is a marvel of wholesomeness, excellence and evenness of quality, unequalled by any Whiskey in the market. It is bottled in bond for export only, is entirely free from fusil oil, possesses a natural flavor and fine tonic properties, suited exactly for true use of invalids and weak and sickly persons. It is cooling, refreshing and strengthening so pure, smooth and ripe, and agreeable to the palate as to invite the attention of connoisseurs.
